Re: Request for Criminal Investigation & Prosecution
Case Nos. CVSW2500372 (Bloch v. Young),
FERI2500238 (People v. Young),
CVRI2407020 (Young petition),
CVSW2500448 (Habeas writ)

District Attorney Hestrin:

I write on behalf of Jessica Young, wife of Reginald Demone Young., to request an immediate criminal investigation and prosecution relating to the above-referenced matters. Evidence shows a coordinated effort to deprive Mr. Young of his constitutional rights and obstruct justice through fabrication, perjury, and conspiracy. The public interest demands accountability.

- 1. Criminal Conspiracy (Cal. Penal Code § 182; 18 U.S.C. § 241)
 - Bloch and Child Protective Services (CPS) colluded to manufacture a restraining-order case under CVSW2500372 by inventing a fictitious complainant "Nancy Young."
 - They agreed to mislead the court, then took overt acts—filing false declarations and instructing process servers—to effectuate the fraudulent petition.
 - Under CCP § 182 ("Conspiracy"), two or more persons who agree to commit any crime and take one step in furtherance are guilty of conspiracy. 18 U.S.C. § 241 ("Conspiracy Against Rights") criminalizes agreements to injure, oppress, threaten, or intimidate any person in the free exercise of constitutional rights.
- 2. Perjury (Cal. Penal Code § 118)
 - Declarants knowingly submitted sworn statements containing provably false allegations (e.g., "Nancy Young" as a CPS source) to induce a restraining order.
 - Under PC 118, willfully giving false testimony under oath is felony perjury.
- 3. Offering False Evidence (Cal. Penal Code § 132)
 - Bloch's filings included forged or knowingly false documents and declarations submitted to a court of law.
 - PC 132 subjects anyone who offers false evidence in a legal proceeding to felony punishment.
- 4. Preparing False Evidence (Cal. Penal Code § 134)
 - The fictitious "Nancy Young" identity and related documents were prepared with intent to deceive the court.
 - PC 134 prohibits preparing false or ante-dated materials for fraudulent use in legal processes.
- 5. Deprivation of Rights Under Color of Law (18 U.S.C. § 242)
 - State actors and private parties acting under color of law deprived Mr. Young of due process (14th Amendment), equal protection, and right to counsel.
 - 18 U.S.C. § 242 forbids willful deprivation of constitutional rights under color of law.

6. Obstruction of Justice (Cal. Penal Code § 69)

- Threats and violence were employed to deter proper service or challenge Mr. Young's legal defense.
- PC 69 makes it a crime to willfully resist or obstruct an executive officer (judge, process server) by force or threats.

7. False Reporting of a Crime (Cal. Penal Code § 148.5)

- Bloch and CPS knowingly reported falsified "abuse" allegations to law enforcement and the court.
- PC 148.5 prohibits knowingly making a false report to a peace officer, attorney general, or district attorney.

II. Pattern of Misconduct & Constitutional Violations

As detailed in the constitutional motion filed in CVSW2500372:

- Improper service and lack of actual notice violated Procedural Due Process (U.S. Const. amend. XIV).
- Fabricated evidence and false testimony denied the right to confront adverse evidence (Sixth Amendment) and the right to fair hearing.
- Civil-harassment restraining order statutes (CCP § 527.6) were abused to effect extrajudicial harassment and incarceration.

III. Statutory & Federal Authorities

Cal. Penal Code §§ 69, 118, 132, 134, 148.5, 182
18 U.S.C. §§ 241, 242

IV. Request for Immediate Action

Given the serious nature of these offenses and the substantial evidence of criminal conduct, we respectfully request:

1. A formal investigation by your office into all participants in the conspiracy—private and public—and related law-enforcement officers.
2. Filing of appropriate criminal charges for conspiracy, perjury, false evidence, deprivation of rights, obstruction of justice, and false reporting.
3. Coordination with federal authorities (U.S. Attorney's Office, FBI) on potential § 241 and § 242 prosecutions.

These crimes have undermined public confidence in our judicial and child-protection systems. Prompt justice is essential to deter future abuses, safeguard constitutional rights, and uphold the rule of law.

Respectfully submitted,

Jessica Young
